A WORD FOR MR. WOODIN

It is no slight to William H.

Woodin, no secretary of the treasury, to recall misgivings of his capabilities when his appointment was announced by President Roosevelt. Actually, it was not the man so much as the job he was appointed to tackle which frightened the people.They had set their hearts on having Senator Glass as secretary of the treasury, because he is the most eminent financial thinker in national life. They had confidence in him; naturally, they were apprensive of placing so much responsibility in untried hands.There is occasion, now that the extraordinary stress which fell upon the treasury department immediately after the inauguration has subsided somewhat, to point out the remarkable prestige which Mr.
Woodin has gained. In Washington he has become the outstanding member of the new cabinet. Throughout the country, faltering faith in his capacity has settled into firm confidence.President Roosevelt, appreciating the almost spectacular manner in which his treasury secretary has emerged from trial by fire, has been most liberal in his praise. The President's enthusiasm is understandable. Failure of Mr. Woodin to meet the extreme demands made upon him during the height of the banking crisis would have been seriously embarrassing. General acknowledgment of success is a real stroke of good fortune.It has not been reported whether Secretary Woodin keeps smiling as the result of conscious intention or force of habit. However, the fact that his face has shown so much cheery confidence in the few pictures that have been taken of him since his appointment has been of inestimable value to people who wondered if anyone was justified in smiling when the banking structure was falling to pieces. There is said to be a tradition in Washington that men who smile too much are subject to suspicion as "stuffed shirts," but Mr. Woodin has made a fine start toward breaking it.He represents, in the community of national figures, a character of unusual proportions. He is a big business man, in the best tradition of the treasury, but he has found time to make a reputation for himself in activities which endear him to the crowd. A genuine good feeling is inspired by realization that he has tackled a vastly difficult and intricate job and expanded the faith of a few in his ability to national proportions.

What Others Say

THE CAMERA HISTORIAN

One of the hardest things for a reader of history is to realize that the figures which appear on the pages before him were once real flesh-and-blood people like himself.

Time and fame have a way of freezing men into heroic attitudes.

The past looks like a series of tableaux, a group of heroic paintings in which everything is arranged just so. It contains no blood, no human emotions.Washington remains eternally rigid, posing in the bow of a boat as it crosses the Delaware amid the thick Declaration of Independence gets signed by a collection of well-dressed gentlemen who kindly faced the artist and arranged their ruffles—and passed into eternity that way. It is hard to believe that these folk lived and moved about and got hungry and felt tired as ordinary people do.So history becomes unreal; and a speculative man is apt to wonder now and then, if perhaps the moving picture camera won't introduce a welcome change.A century from now people who study the doings of this generation won't have to depend on paintings.
Our great men won't be figures from a portrait gallery; they will be human beings in front of a news camera, some of them slightly smitten by stage fright, none of them frozen into colorful immobility.And that will be a tremendous advantage. What wouldn't we givetoday, for instance, for a good news picture of the Boston tea party, an action shot showing a wagon train heading west in Ohio, an informal picture of the Constitutional Convention, an exposure or two of the Lincoln-Douglas debates or the building of the Union Pacific Railroad?If we had such things we wouldn't be so apt to credit our ancestors with impossible virtues. We should realize that heroes like Washington and Jackson and Webster were mortal men like Coolidge and Hoover and Roosevelt, that the rugged continentals were probably quite as irreverent and profane as the A. E.
F. and that, in short, the Americans of the golden age were blood brothers to ourselves.—Columbus Citizen.

Weight After Thirty

Not long after reaching the age of thirty the average person will put on weight. But to carry too much at this period is a definite stumbling block to good health. Too often the importance of a person's weight is not considered at this time of life and the average person overlooks the necessity of controlling it.

Dr. Copeland

Most persons can blame their overweight on three things:
1. Carelessness in diet, lack of exercise and improper mode of living. In some instances it can be traced to some glandular disturbance. Overweight which is caused by trouble in the glands appears at an early age and persists regardless of care in diet and exercise.Many women fear being fat because it is not fashionable. I am sorry to say few fear it because it is a menace to health.Persons who are overweight are liable to many constitutional diseases, especially diabetes, high blood pressure and gall bladder disease.
Heart disease is commonly found in individuals who are overweight.
The heart muscle is replaced by fat and that organ becomes flabby and weak, unfit to continue with its work.

Severe Dieting Unwise

There is danger in every fad having to do with the body. Within recent years severe diets for reducing have become popular. They are dangerous and in many instances have resulted in serious ailments.
Never starve or go on a special diet unless you have been advised to do so by your physician. It is wise to have a thorough physical examination to determine why you are overweight and whether the condition is caused by some disease.No matter what the diet may be, it is imperative that certain foods be included in the daily intake. If these so-called "protective" foods are omitted, disability and even disease may result. Milk, leafy vegetables and fresh fruits are among those which are essential. They supply necessary vitamins and minerals needed for health.Anemia, scurvy, beri-beri and pel-lagra are a few of the serious disorders that may follow severe dieting in an effort to reduce. Too often stout persons exclude the important foods I have mentioned and of course lose weight, but find themselves suffering from some serious disease.Bear in mind that sudden and rapid loss of weight is dangerous.
Restrict the amount of food you eat, but make sure that the diet contains the necessary proteins, carbohydrates and fats.

Avoid Too Rich Food

Avoid pies, pastries and rich desserts. Get outdoors and walk in the air as much as possible. Lack of a regular amount of exercise leads to overweight. There are many forms of exercise which will help to reduce weight.Exercise should never be indulged in too strenuously. It is harmful when taken in excess and is dangerous for the obese person who is not accustomed to it. Before attempting any form of exercise consult with your physician.Overweight is a hindrance to good health and longevity. Neglected overweight becomes more and more difficult to cure. Watch your weight and take the necessary steps to prevent obesity.

Two Billion New Currency Ready

You often heard of a spender letting a fortune slip through his fingers, but the most extravagant spendthrift could not hold a candle to these girls. Money, at the rate of millions every hour, is slipping through their fingers as they cut the large sheets of new currency into individual bills at the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, D. C. Inset: Mr.
Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, who seems highly pleased with the tale of new money he is holding. This is the first picture made in the Bureau in many years.and cannot seem to get relief.
A—Improve your general health first of all. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.M. R. K. Q.—What causes bad breath?A—This may be due to ingestion of nasal catarrh, decayed teeth, diseased tonsil and constipation. Try to locate the underlying cause and remove it if possible.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, March 26

Sunday's horoscope shows much liveliness as well as pleasure in both business and private life. There is much of an interesting and gainful development which may enhance the fortunes as well as the position.
Promotion or recognition from employers or supporters, with very profitable as well as happy adventure in the cultural, emotional or affectional associations. Gain through elders.Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a particularly lively and eventful year in both their private and business life. In the latter all pertaining to literary, artistic and promotional pursuits are under fine prospects. In the affectional, domestic and social contacts there may be much stirring to the enhancement of the position and personal popularity. Employment is promising and elders may be disposed to be generous and friendly.
Real property increases. A child born on this day may be extremely verbal and clever, with pen, brush, voice, in fact any artistic and cultural vocation. Employers favor it, also elders.Notable nativity: W. T. Smedley,

For Monday, March 27

Monday's astrological forecast is for a disruptive and unsettled state of affairs, with changes of a far-reaching influence on the future destinies impending. New opportunities, associates and environments seem probable, these with an element of intrigue or secrecy increasing the uncertainty and perplexity of things in general. Be on guard against treachery and keep firm curb on tongue and temper.Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by doubts, fears, disruption and change during the year. The benefit of new associations, environment and interests of great importance on the future life, may be attained by wariness against fraud, trickery and subtle enmities and keeping a calm and restrained demeanor in the face of danger and provocation. A child born on this day may be restless, unsettled, disposed to tumultuous and bitter speech, but may be clever at invention and original research.Notable nativity: Ruth Hanna Mc-Cormick

H. G. Wells' "gentlemen descended to poverty." Especially the past two years.

To the practised eye, there still are hints of excellent breeding.

Whipcord old bodies are bent, but there is a set to the head which a prideless beggar never acquires.

Something of the "to the manor born" often, a glint of aristocratic fire flashes from rheumy eyes.

Lodging house "rooms" are mostly piano-box stalls with cots. At night, flickers of light fall from hall gas-jets on blue-veined hands and grey-lined faces. Somewhere about is a blurred picture—perhaps a fan —with lips that seem to murmur:
"Could I only help!"They are putters in a life that has passed them by. Trembling hands fill blackened briars and hold newspapers whose type, save for bold headlines, is too dim to read. Existence settles largely to the state of one's rheumatism. Or the monotony of another sleepless night.In the Bowery's surprising tumble, one often comes upon a bit of calm.

Near Broome street, for instance, I turned into an electrical repair shop. No one was about, and a door in the rear was opened, revealing a fleeting glance one of the cosiest of living rooms—a jackdaw in a wicker cage, a print of Blue Boy over a brick mantle, a floor of flagging, and an orange cat napping on a rug.Major Raymond Dickson, from the Texas border, was here recently to sit at the bedside of his friend, Thomas Gregory, former attorney general. "When I get a few cockleburrs from behind my ears," he phoned, "I want you to take me to board a little at that place where all the clowns go." I found out he meant the Algonquin, and escorted him. Irvin Cobb awaited him, and, looking Dickson over, archly observed: "Major, your clothes looked all right to me down at Del Rio."

The Major was telling of an old rancher next to his domain in Mexico who, since the debacle, has been consoling himself in red-eye. "He was trying to make his life and whiskey come out even," he explained, "but I'm afraid he is going to outlive his whiskey."A midtown millinery shop is conducted by two flutty and garden-ed gentlemen in braided coats and neatly ruled trousers. They specialize in exotic hats for theatrical ladies. The most expert trimmer is also of male persuasion.And a Chinese laundry on Lexington avenue bows to the times, with: "Back to old prices—shirts 10 cents, collars 2 cents."Ed Hill is one of the expert newspaper interviewers who never takes a note. Another grand reporter of a still older school, with a photographic mind, is Ed Howe, who has written entire travel books according to notes without jotting down a single incident while journeying. Frank O'Malley, also, was a non-note-taker.As one of the poor, it has been part of my job to mingle among the sideline spectators of the rich. It occurred to me today that out of a list of 40 such fortunates, I know but two of whom wealth brought happiness. That's confusing.At a hockey game this winter, I saw, for the first time without his black-face makeup and familiar white linen suit, Jack Powell, one of my major enthusiasms in the entertainment world. He is rarest of artists, a tymanist, who, with a pair of snare drum sticks, rat-a-tats rhythm that sets audiences a-tremor.

Without orchestral accompaniment, he wanders about beating a tattoo on anything he comes across, from a chair to the tip of a bull fiddle projecting from the pit. It is a magnificent exploitation of talent over personality.I asked my wife, after seeing Powell, if she minded if I got a pair of drum sticks to play with around the house. "Not if we are going to keep on going together," she replied.

Wall Paper Is Popular Again

Some time ago I wrote about the return to popularity of wall paper. My mail since has included several letters from readers anxious to redecorate, but fearful to use wall paper because it is so difficult to keep clean. I have just come from a visit to a manufacturer of fine wall papers who is pre-eminent in his field and I was pleased to find that some of the most beautiful papers were washable.

So Many Effects

Wall paper provides a magic through which barren walls blossom into flowery gardens of fascinating seascapes. Small spaces can be transformed into broad vistas and sunshine seems to flood the house on even the coldest day, when the right wall paper is used. For the bathroom there are fascinating marine views and nautical effects; for the nursery, thrilling figures from playland. Historical scenes lend beauty and dignity to the dining room, while for the formal room there are papers that successfully simulate velvet or silk. Dado effects can be obtained by the use of a paper that resembles wood paneling. Many of these unusual and lovely designs are produced in oil colors on a sturdy parchment-like paper or fabric that will last as long as the walls they cover. Spots, stains, finger marks cause no dismay, for these papers can be washed as successfully as the bathroom floor.

Washable Papers

When cleaning a washable wall paper, a thick lather of suds made with a mild soap and lukewarm water should be applied with sweeping strokes over large areas at the time, with special attention and vigorous scrubbing being given to spots and badly soiled portions. The very best results are obtained by using a brush for washing as cloths might possibly only rub in the dirt. Clean cloths wrung out of tepid water are preferable for rinsing.

For the modernistic room, there are new papers made of very thin metal foil, in aluminum and chromium finish. This foil has a back of special composition and is absolutely fireproof and flameproof. There are lovely new papers, too, for the ceiling, done in beautiful colorings and effects. And the vogue for papered ceilings is steadily growing, as some very beautiful effects can be obtained. Provided of course, that discretion and a good artistic sense is used.

Miami's Captured Gem Raffles Paints Self as "Robin Hood"

Slick-Fingered International Crook, Whose Arrest Revealed $500,000 Worth of Stolen Jewels, Has Long Police Record.

GRACE MOORE

HARRY SITAMORE

His long campaign of depredations against society ended, Harry Sitamore, international jewel thief who was recently captured at Miami, Fla., after New York detectives had aided the local police in tracking him down, has fallen back on the time-honored "excuse" of other ill-fated emulators of the fictional Raffles. He asserts that it was always his policy to steal from the rich to give to the poor and that more than twenty persons are dependent upon him for a livelihood. Sitamore, who has a long police record for offenses, ranging from traffic violations to suspicion of murder, had upset the nerves of vacationists in the southern resort with the ease with which he entered fashionable hotels and private residences and looted them. Following his arrest $500,000 worth of stolen gems were found in the comfortable beach home he occupied with his wife and 5-year-old son. Among the loot was $81,000 worth of gemstones from Grace Moore, opera singer, some time ago, and $60,000 worth purloined from Mrs. Bertha Glemby Keller of New York. Mrs. Keller is a member of the Glemby family which has suffered so much from members of Sitamore's craft. Twice in a few months the Glembys were robbed of huge fortunes in jewelry. Mrs. Harry Glemby was robbed of a $25,000 earring in January, 1932, and a few weeks after her home was looted of $305,000 in gems. However, almost all of the jewelry was recovered later.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

FORETHOUGHT WILL MAKE IRONING A PLEASANT TASK and then as many times across as you desire.

SYSTEM WORKS WONDERS IN SIMPLIFYING DISH WASHING

There are some jobs that just have to be done no matter how much we grumble and fume. One of these is dish washing and as those plates, glasses, silver and utensils must be cleaned and stacked away again, why not make it a task that is scientific, and therefore much simpler to manage. Of course, there are all sorts of attachments and devices to glorify the dish washing rite, but most of us have to do with the old-fashioned tub of soap, hot water and elbow grease.

Rubber Hose, Good Aid

A splendid aid and quite inexpensive, too, is a contrivance consisting of a flexible rubber hose with various attachments and a wire tray with racks for holding the plates upright while they are being washed. The hose is equipped with a soap chamber at one end and with a brush handle at the other. Each of the brushes that can be set in the handle is for either glass, china, or pots and pans. Left over bits of soap may be placed in the soap chamber, a grand device surely. But let's consider ways and means for those who just have to wash dishes without any clever aids or devices. System together with soap and water will do wonders.

The wise housewife begins her dish washing as she prepares each meal. If mixing bowls, egg beaters and other utensils are washed or used while food is cooking there will be that less cleaning up to do at the end of the meal. Those vessels used for cream, milk, eggs, flour or vegetables should first be soaked in cold water before washing. Hot water is best for those dishes which have contained sugar or syrup, and are sticky and sticky. Scraping and stacking can best be accomplished after the soiled dishes have been removed from the table. For the actual washing process, plenty of hot soapy water is indispensable. The supply should be changed as soon as the water becomes soiled and the suds lose their sparkle.

To Safeguard China

It really is a mistake to fill the dishpan with as many soiled dishes as it will hold. Not more than two or three pieces should ever be immersed at one time. This way each dish or utensil will have its share of careful attention. A folded towel or rubber mat placed at the bottom of the dishpan will preserve plates and china from nicks, cracks and even breakage.

For rinsing it is best to place the dishes in a wire basket partitioned to hold each piece upright in order that scalding water may be poured over them without discomfort to the dishwasher's hands. This method makes the drying of china unnecessary. Glassware and silver should be rinsed in clean, hot soapsuds and dried with a clean towel.

HOLY TRINITY ENGLISH LUTHERAN

East State st. at Woodland Ave. Rev. George D. Koster, pastor.

Sunday school 9:45 (Acts 10:38).
Palm Week, April 1.

Our mission that comes from knowing and following Jesus Christ is a duty to be lived. He has called the world to a more sincere love, one for another. He has glorified the spirit of sacrifice, that it is practiced as never before. He has put a halo about service, that from the humblest to the highest, there is a desire to serve. The most glorious service that man can do, can never come from the ministering life of Jesus Christ. Divine King and Savior as He was, did not prevent Him from spending Himself to the limit for the benefit of man.

The splendid motive for service and participation in our present materialistic era, can be traced to no other source than to the preaching and teaching of the Gospel of Christ.

Morning worship, 11:00. Sermon: "The Invitation to Meditation."

"The rushing and hurrying spirit of our day is not conducive to the practice of prayer and meditation. Philosophers seem to be in a very unfriendly atmosphere. There seems to be no time for such slow action and such unproductive labor. Speed and quick returns are some of the present demands. Yet the cry of the soul and spirit of humanity is for some chance to exercise the work of meditation. Our makeup needs it. Constructed as we are, some quiet moments of communion with God are a vital necessity for the proper continuance of our spiritual life. Jesus in His busy life, took time to fellowship with the Father in Heaven. Time spent in meditation is never lost time."

If you have ever wondered—as who hasn't?—how the cute knots are tied in pretzels, here's your chance to learn something. In anticipation of a big demand for the third-provokers after April 7, when beer will flow legally, this pretzel factory at Cleveland is working overtime so that there shall be no shortage. ### From Southern Camps

(By Associated Press)

TAMPA—Gratified with the hitting of his Redlegs in the five games they have played with Major League clubs, Donie Bush, Cincinnati manager, today devoted his attention to the mound staff.

Bush cancelled an intra-club game scheduled for this afternoon believing a workout would do the players, especially Halley, Morrisey, Lucas and Rixey just off the hospital list, more good.

BRADENTON — The annual back-to-the-minor-league parade has started at the St. Louis Cardinal training camp. Two pitchers, Albert Fisher and Ted Nohlen, were released yesterday to the Houston club in the Texas league.

MIAMI — The two best rookie pitching prospects in the Brooklyn Dodger camp, says Manager Max Carey, are Walter Back and Thornton Schwenk.

Beck is the right hander from Memphis who has pitched so well in exhibition games so far. Schwenk is a left-hander from Dayton with lots of stuff on the ball.

ST. PETERSBURG — Babe Ruth is one ball player whose drawing power at the "gate" can be calculated accurately.

A crowd of 1,581, the biggest by far this season at the local park, turned out yesterday to see the Yankees' slugger pound out a home run in the first exhibition game of the year. On Thursday, when Ruth had not settled his salary differences, and did not play, only 500 fans came out for the Yankees' exhibition.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Russell White, youthful southpaw who had experience in three camps last year, will have his chance today to show whether he has in that left arm enough muscle to rate a 1933 berth with the St. Louis Browns.

Manager Bill Killefer said White and another newcomer, Jack Knott, will pitch for the Browns in this afternoon's exhibition game against the Cardinals.

Another Dash Record Sought

By Metcalfe in Butler Meet

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, March 25.—Ralph Metcalfe, world's 60-yard dash record holder from Marquette university, faces the starter's gun for the fourth time this week here today in the first annual Butler university relay.

350 Athletes To Compete

The appearance of the Negro Olympic sprinter shares attention with a program of seven relay events, and five individual events, in which thirty midwest colleges and universities have entered more than 350 of their best performers.

Metcalfe set the world indoor mark at his specialty at 6.1 seconds in the central intercollegiate conference meet at South Bend, Ind., two weeks ago, and equalled it at Hamilton, Ontario last Wednesday.

Another Negro star, Willis Ward, University of Michigan high jumper, will compete in that event. Indiana university, which moved out Michigan for the Western conference indoor title will present relay teams built about its 1932 Olympic runners, Ivan Fugua and Charles Hornbostel, but faces strong competition from Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois.

Other Entries

Other competing schools include Chicago, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Pittsburgh, Butler, Illinois Wesleyan, Michigan Normal, Miami, Pittsburgh, Kas. Teachers, Western State of Kansas, Western Mich., Emporia, Kas. Teachers, Crane and Armour Tech. of Chicago.

Preliminaries in the 60-yard dash and 60-yard high hurdles were scheduled for 3 p. m. with finals in all events at night. The pole vault, high jump and shot put are the field events included, while university teams will engage in mile, two-mile, medley and four-mile relays, and college teams in the mile-two-mile and medley races.

Three-Eye League To Quit Operations

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Three-Eye league, oldest class B baseball league in the nation, after 31 years of operation will not open its gates this season, due to general business conditions.

This was revealed definitely by L. J. Wyke, of Decatur, Ill., president of the league today. He hopes to have the league reorganized for the 1934 season, however.

SELECT CAPTAIN

ASHLAND, March 25.—Ashland College's basketball team next year will be captained by John Boyer.

Myersdale, Pa., three-sport star and honor student, John a guard, takes over the leadership his brother Samuel had two years ago.

Displaying her usual championship form, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody is shown in action on the courts at Pasadena, Cal., at the opening of the Huntington Invitation Tennis Tournament. Mrs. Moody impressed the experts with her fitness after a long lay-off from the game. They say she is in prime condition for the 1933 season.

"Athletic Heart" Believed Cause of Death of Brothers

(By International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Mar. 25.—The sudden death here of Monte Munn, 32, giant former University of Nebraska football star, and former heavyweight prizefighter, once more focused attention on the high mortality among athletes due to heart failure.

It was an "athletic heart" that killed big Monte Munn at his home here in Indianapolis just as he was on the threshold of a brilliant career as business man, civic leader and politician.

Brother Died in 1925

Monte died from the same illness that struck down his brother, Wayne Munn, in San Antonio, Tex., in 1925.

Of the three Munn brothers who wrote football history on the powerful Nebraska grid teams of a decade ago, which repeatedly humbled Notre Dame, only Wade Munn remains alive today. He lives in Nebraska.

The history of the Munn brothers parallels that of other ill-fated athletes—early participation in strenuous sports in high school and continuance of such competition in college and afterwards. In school all won letters in football, basketball and track.

Wayne Munn took up wrestling before his death. He and his wife lived in a small town in Nebraska. Monte Munn took up boxing. He fought in many bouts for three years, his most important accomplishment being a knockout of the South American heavyweight champion during a fistie tour of that continent.

Monte was manager here for a coal company. He had been transferred here from Chicago two years ago. Prior to coming here Munn served as a member of the Nebraska State Legislature. He also managed Herbert Hoover's campaign in Nebraska in 1928.

Candidate For Senator
Since coming here Munn was a candidate on the Republican ticket for State Senator, but was defeated in the November 8th Democratic landslide. He made an active campaign and gave a number of radio talks urging economy in government and reduction of taxes.

Recently Munn and his young wife, the former Irene Steed of Moline, Ill., moved into a more pretentious home here. The couple made plans for a big garden and for otherwise beautifying their home.

Munn knew he had a bad heart. So when he fell ill about ten days before his death, he followed the orders of his physician to the letter and went to bed and stayed there.

"Isn't it ridiculous for a great big fellow like me being in bed and loafing?" he remarked to visiting friends.

Two days before his death Munn felt so well that he and his wife took an auto ride about the city.

On the morning of his death (March 23) Munn told his wife he was feeling as well as he hoped the physician would soon permit him to return to work. He had breakfast in bed.

A few minutes after he finished his breakfast, Mrs. Munn discovered her husband was unwell.

"It's sort of close in here," he complained.

When she returned to his bedroom, Mrs. Munn was gasping for breath. Mrs. Munn called to the telephone to summon the physician. Before she could put the call through Munn, the big athlete, had died.

The body was taken to Fairbury, Neb., his birthplace, for burial.

PHILLIES HOPE TO RANK HIGH IN FLAG FIGHT

Mickey Finn Expected To Prove Big Help; Rhem, Elliott Return

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

For the simple reason that they rely on Neal (Mickey) Finn to plug the long-standing gap at second base, plus the fact that they carry the heaviest hitting artillery in the league, the Philadelphia Nationals actually hear the far-away buzzing of the pennant bee this spring.

They haven't been on top since 1915.

Trade Benge For Finn

The Phillies had to part with one of their most reliable right-handed pitchers, Ray Benge, to get Finn from Brooklyn but Manager Bart Shotton considers it was the smartest and most effective deal he has swung since he took charge of the club in 1928. Finn is the best second sacker the club has had since Proco Thompson.

The 1932 Phillies finished a dozen games behind the Cubs but they demonstrated their ability against the stronger teams by winning a big majority of their games from Pittsburgh and Brooklyn. George Gibson, Pirate chief, called them "the toughest club in the league."

Hurst Still Holds Out

Shotton still has a problem in his holdout first baseman, Don Hurst, but he has developed a hard-hitting understudy for this emergency in Gus Dugas, obtained from Pittsburgh. With Dick Bartell at short and Captain "Pinky" Whitney at third, the Phillie pilot insists he would not trade his infield for any other in the league.

The Phils may miss the fleet George Davis, but Shotton seems confident Chick Fullis will do as a replacement, flanked in left by Hal Lee and in right field by Chuck Klein, all-American clouter. Klein, a 350 slugger, is the powerhouse of the team.

The pitching staff looks stronger despite the loss of Benge. Jumbo Jim Elliott, giant southpaw, appears to have recovered from the lame back that handicapped him last year, and hopes to repeat his 1931 record of 19 victories. Flint Rhem, one of the best right handers in the league when on his good behavior, is attending strictly to business.

Other Slabsters

Fidgety Phil Collins, veteran right-hander, and two youngsters who made good last year, Ed Holley and Roy Hansen, a southpaw, complete the probable starting staff.

One of the best rookie prospects is Frank Pearce, who won 29 games for Nashville last season. Austin (Cy) Moore, obtained from Brooklyn, should be useful.

Names you should know

You like to know names that everybody knows—name of the man who tied lightning to a kite; name of the man who watched a tea-kettle and went out and made an engine. Just knowing such names gives you pleasure.

Yet there are names that thousands of people know that can give you much more pleasure in a much more personal way. Names that stand for the best things to eat, to wear, to sleep on. Names, that if connected with the salad dressing, hat, fountain pen you select—or any other desirable thing—mean it is most desirable. Names written large in ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements tell why those are wise names for you to know. Why such names greet you in the best grocery, department and hardware stores. Why those names are in the buying vocabulary of thousands . . . are believed in by thousands . . . justify belief!

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

At the rate jokes are being used up on the air, the supply will soon become exhausted, Fred Allen believes.

Allen, one of 20 or more comedians who, at the behest of sponsors, have transferred their activities from the stage to the microphone for the time being, cites this example.

"Why, Ed Wynn and Jack Pearl alone use maybe a hundred jokes a week, and in 20 weeks their total easily jumps to around 2,000 jokes," he statistically pointed out.

Yosuke Matsuo, head of the former Japanese delegation to the league of nations, is to be heard addressing guests at a dinner given in his honor by the Japanese Chamber of Commerce of New York, when it is broadcast Tuesday night by WABC-CBS.

LOVELINESS?

Elizabeth Arden has proved that loveliness can be acquired with the greatest economy...if these simple rules are followed:

Use preparations that justify every claim made for them...preparations carefully supervised by Miss Arden who tests them on herself...who uses them constantly in her salons throughout the world. This method of attaining loveliness is sure and swift, and the ingredients are so concentrated that a little goes a long way. Herein lies true economy.

Elizabeth Arden invites you to consult her specially trained representative at the Toilet Goods Counter, who will be happy to give you expert advice, without charge.

Victim of Nazi Terrorism

Here is the first picture to arrive in the United States which actually illustrates the extent to which Chancellor Hitler's Nazi followers have carried out their ruthless persecution of persons of Jewish faith. The unfortunate man shown here was beaten, his clothes torn off and compelled to walk barefoot through the streets of Munich bearing a placard with the legend: "I'll never complain to the police again." Note the Nazi "Emergency Police" who enforced the brutal order.

End of Trial Near LIMA, O., March 25.—Loren Truesdale's second murder trial today stood recessed until Monday with conclusion of the trial near.

The state yesterday concentrated its efforts in attempts to discredit the story of Lloyd Zeigler, Mansfield reformatory inmate, who said he and three other young men killed Loren's brother Earl and Thelma Woods.

Gracious Lady
Although Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is one of the most popular "First Ladies" in the history of the United States, it is doubtful if any group of her fellow-citizens are more enthusiastic about her than news photographers who are assigned to the capital. Here is the reason. Mrs. Roosevelt is shown as she waved a friendly greeting to the camera boys who waited to "shoot" her as she arrived at the recent party given in her honor by the Women's Press Club in Washington.

Seek Status of Reynolds Heirs Financial Institution Asks Authority to Dispose of Trust Funds
29, 1931, was asked by the petitioner in subsequent to the determination of "the validity of the divorce of the said Anne Cannon Reynolds from the said Zachary Smith Reynolds" in Nevada on November 23, 1931.
The rights of the widow, Libby Holman Reynolds; her son, referred to in the suit for "convenience" as "Zachary Smith Reynolds, Jr.," the first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith and her daughter, Anne Cannon Reynolds, were asked to be defined.
Asks Court Ruling On Will
The suit also asked a ruling concerning the provisions of the R. J.
Reynolds will, leaving a portion of his estate to his son when he became 28 years old; a will left by Reynolds, a minor, in New York and a North Carolina court settlement with the first wife for herself and her daughter.
Seventy-eight defendants, including the two wives of Reynolds, the two children, all relatives who might have an interest in the trust estate as collateral heirs and the legatees in his will, were named in the trustee's suit.
It said all the property of the trust estates is personal property and located within the jurisdiction of the court. It did not reveal the value of the estates which have been estimated at approximately $20,000,000.

DAYTON, O., March 25.—Three persons, including a nine-month-old girl, were at Dayton let wounds received last night.

Ernest Rutherford, 23, his wife, 21, and their daughter, Jeanette, were shot by Herman Leach, father of Mrs. Rutherford. Leach said Rutherford knocked him down when he attempted to stop a quarrel between the Rutherfords. Leach was held for questioning.

Galaxy of Film Stars Appear At State Theater Next Week

WILL ROGERS, NORMAN FOSTER, JANET GAYNOR, and LEW AYRES in a scene from FOX'S "STATE FAIR"

SOME of the brightest of the stars are scheduled to appear in feature productions this week at the State theater. There are Will Rogers, Barbara Stanwyck, Janet Gaynor, Sally Eilers, James Dunn, Norman Foster, Lew Ayres, Preston S. Foster and a host of others.

"State Fair" Here Sunday
In one picture, "State Fair", to play here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday there are such prominent players as Gaynor, Rogers, Eilers, Ayres, Foster, along with Louise Dreiser, Frank Craven and Victor Jory.

This film, based on the story by Phil Strong, relates the adventures of a middle-western family at a state fair, which is the b's affair of their lives. There is romance, comedy and drama in this intimate story of some real people.

Barbara Stanwyck, recently voted the "first lady of the movies", comes to the State in "Ladies
They Talk About"
on Wednesday and Thursday.

As an especially attractive addition to the program there is a two reel comedy starring that "was you dere, Sharley?" fellow—the Baron Munchaus-en (Jack Pearl) himself in "The Meal Ticket."

Support Miss Stanwyck Lyle Talbot, seen here recently in "70-60 Years in Sing-Sing" and Preston Foster, who played the crook so well in "Doctor X", are supporting players to Miss Stanwyck.

Far different from her recent characterizations, the star plays a cool, worldly-wise and hard boiled bandit who matches her wits with the cleverest of detectives.

The "Bad Girl" of the films and her smiling co-star Sally Eilers and James Dunn, respectively, are the stars of "Sailor's Luck", the State's attraction Friday and Saturday.

Besides Dunn and Miss Eilers there are Victor Jory (also playing in "State Fair") and in "The Pride of the Legion" tiny Buster Phelps, Eddie Dillon and Frank McHugh.

Attractions For Today
Today's features show Lee Tracy and Lupe Velez in "The Half Naked

Although Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is one of the most popular "First Ladies" in the history of the United States, it is doubtful if any group of her fellow-citizens are more enthusiastic about her than news photographers who are assigned to the capital. Here is the reason. Mrs. Roosevelt is shown as she waved a friendly greeting to the camera boys who waited to "shoot" her as she arrived at the recent party given in her honor by the Women's Press Club in Washington.
